

factory job or is not contributing materially to the total material reserve of necessary things is wanted for the army if he is young and strong enough. It will be a hard problem to work out—to make the proper selections—but the matter is being approached with serious purpose and will be wisely considered by congress.

At the present time there is little prospect that hotbloods who would like adventure and who would like to carry the American flag to the trenches in France will be satisfied. There will be much training at home, much preparation, but little of the spectacular or the bloody.

MEXICANS MASS 30,000 TROOPS OPPOSITE EL PASO

El Paso, Tex., April 19.—Carranza's mobilization of troops along the border continues today. Gen. Murgula has given up Villa chase, returning to Juarez with his 5,000 men.

Withdrawal of all Carranzista forces from Central Mexico has been virtually complete.

Gen. Murgula's return will place approximately 30,000 Carranzista troops within striking distance of El Paso and other border points. Situation causing uneasiness here.

WASHINGTON PICTORIALY IN WAR TIME
